

Code of conduct

For the visitors of the Kasbah of Agadir Oufella

Agadir Oufella, a sixteenth century fortress, brings together an extraordinary range of historical events, Moroccan cultural traditions (Muslim and Hebrew), Local folk music and ancestral spiritual customs. This sacred site is home to the traces and vestiges of a peaceful community life that came to an unexpected end when the earthquake struck on February 29, 1960. at 11:41 pm.

Below is a set of rules intended to preserve the Kasbah of Agadir Oufella to ensure a lasting memory of past generations and a cultural heritage for the pride of future generations:

DON'T BUY FROM UNOFFICIAL VENDORS

To live a quality experience, historically and scientifically accurate, please do not buy anything from unofficial vendors. All services related to the Kasbah of Agadir Oufella are available at the ticketing office or on the website: www.agadiroufella.ma.

DRESS CODE

Please adhere to an appropriate dress code during your visit to the Kasbah of Agadir Oufella and avoid attire that could be provocative. By doing so, you will contribute to maintain a respectful and harmonious atmosphere within this place rooted in Memory, History, and Culture.

THE DECKING

An elevated walkway for visitors, following the layout of the old alleys of the citadel, has been installed on the ground without excavation to avoid disturbing the resting place of the victims still buried there following the earthquake of 02/29/1960. Please respect the designated path to explore the site and do not walk away from it. Thank you.

THE KASBAH, A SACRED SITE

As these places are sacred to the people of Agadir and Morocco, we thank you for being extremely respectful. Therefore, we kindly ask you to avoid any disruptive behavior, loud or inappropriate actions, and ensure that you conduct yourself decently.

RESPECT FOR PLACES OF PRAYER AND CONTEMPLATION

Please preserve the spirituality and tranquility of places of worship. We kindly ask you to maintain the necessary silence for contemplation.

RESTRICTED AREAS

For reasons of security and for the purpose of heritage preservation, the access to certain areas is strictly prohibited to the public. Please do not cross any barriers and refrain from touching the facilities or equipment in the designated zones.
